

Ah-Tah-Thi-Ki Museum Presents

Earth Day

20

23

CALLING ALL CREATIVE WRITERS & ARTISTS!

ANNOUNCING A NEW PUBLICATION: EARTH DAY – THE NATIVE WAY

The Ah-Tah-Thi-Ki Museum is inviting all Seminole creative writers, photographers, and artists to submit their essays, limericks, haiku, poetry, prose and original works to be considered for the first ever publication, Earth Day – The Native Way.

To join, submit your “What Does Earth Day Mean to Me?” themed work.

DEADLINE: TUESDAY, APRIL 18, 2023

Space is limited, selected entries will be considered based on creativity and skill.

All selected participants will receive a copy of this special publication!

Open To All Ages, Tribal Citizens & Descendants.

Essay Criteria: 300 words or less.

Preschoolers through Kindergarten: Illustrations Accepted

Handwritten or digital word document submissions in 12 point font are accepted.

Email to your submissions with “Earth Day the Native Way” in the subject line.

Include your name, contact information, and title of piece.

1960 photographic print of Josie Billie planting native herbs in the Okalee Indian Village herb garden.

Go to ahtahthiki.com/events for Submission Information